The bolded names listed are those candidates who gained the most votes in the election and will represent their respective regions as a SELF Board Member.

The votes were tallied at the SELF office in Sacramento. SELF hired Pacific Election Services, Inc., an election processing company, to run this year's election. The SELF Board will certify the election results at the June 24, 2005 meeting. The new board members will take office on July 1. SELF staff will provide new board and alternate member orientation this summer.

Every two years, elections are held for half the board members. Each director serves a four-year term. Schools Excess Liability Fund (SELF) is a statewide joint powers authority providing excess liability and workers' compensation coverage to more than 1,100 California public educational agencies.
